

The Education System and The Recent Trends

Dr. Mostafa Ahmed Amin
Faculty of Education
Damanhur University

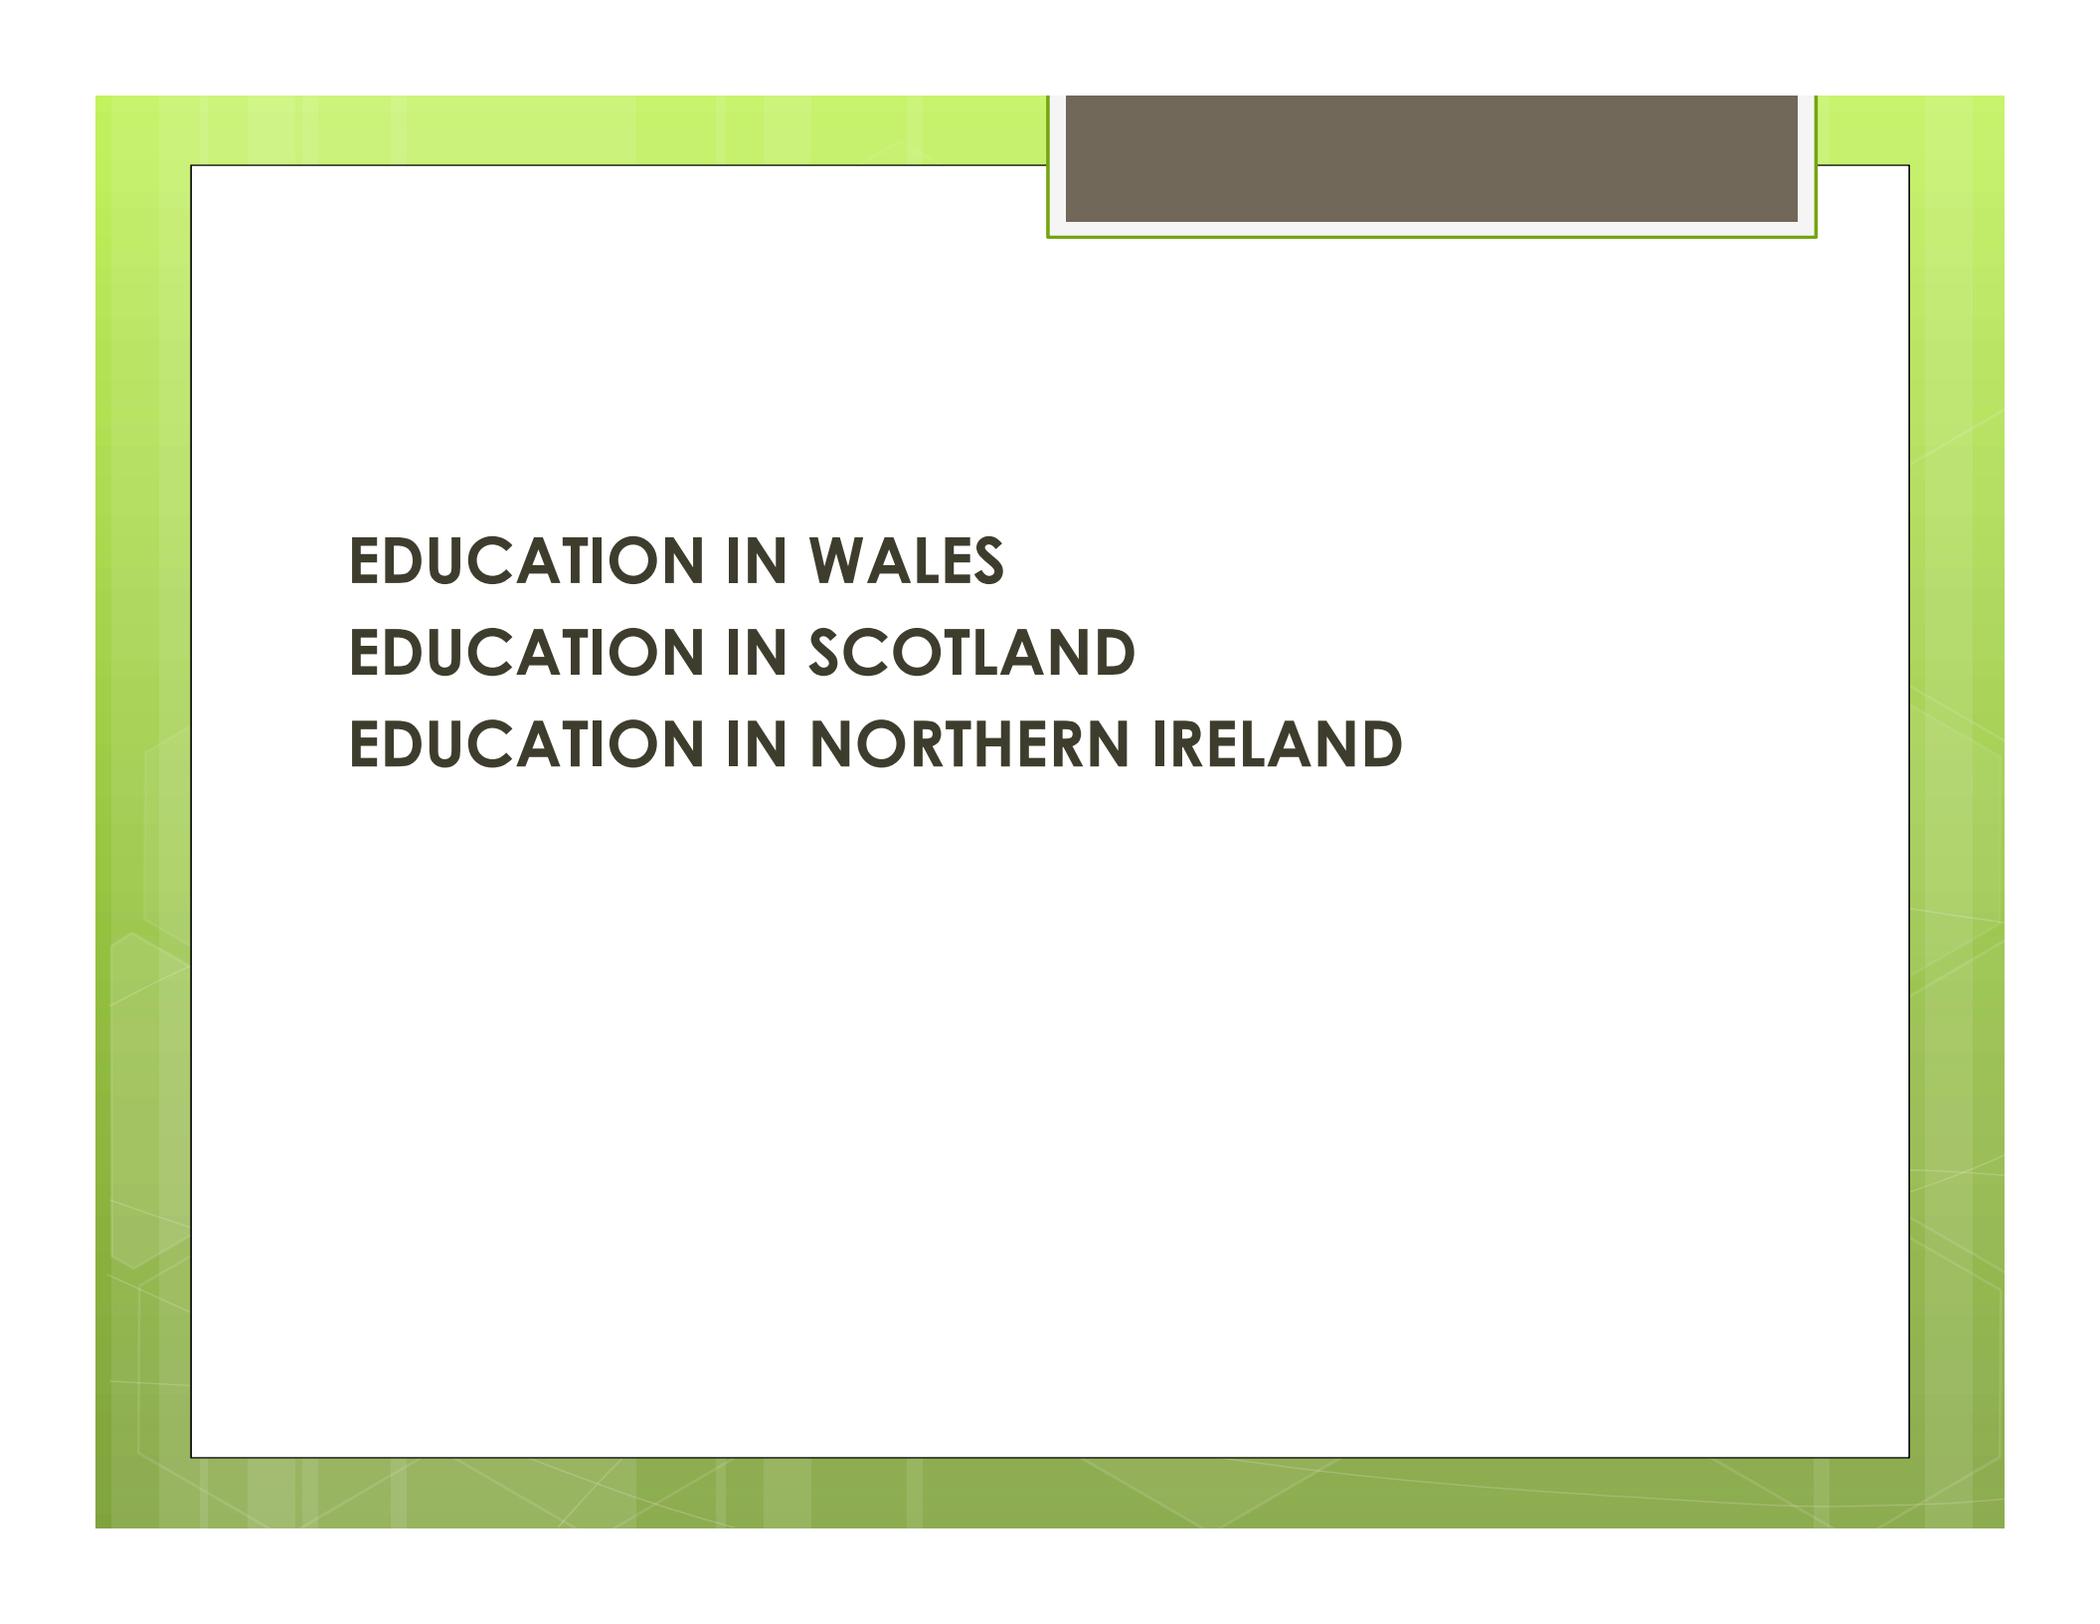

Education System

System in United Kingdom (UK)

Basically, there are two systems: one covering England, Wales and Northern Ireland and one covering Scotland. The two education systems have different emphases. Traditionally the English, Welsh and Northern Irish system has emphasised depth of education whereas the Scottish system has emphasised breadth. Thus English, Welsh and Northern Irish students tend to sit a small number of more advanced examinations and Scottish students tend to sit a larger number of less advanced examinations. It should be noted that local English practice can vary from this general picture although Scottish practice is well nigh universal.

EDUCATION IN WALES
EDUCATION IN SCOTLAND
EDUCATION IN NORTHERN IRELAND

EDUCATION SYSTEM IN UK

- ❑ STAGES ,KINDERGARTEN, ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, SECONDARY EDUCATION, HIGHER EDUCATION
- ❑ DEGREES AND GRADUATION
- ❑ ADMISSION
- ❑ FUNDING
- ❑ PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN THE UK
- ❑ Education and Economics

United Kingdom (UK) vs. United States (USA) Education Systems.

United Kingdom	United States of America
College begins at the age of 16, where students choose their field of study for university at 16	College begins at the age of 18, where students choose their field of study
Price of attending university is relatively small	University costs are relatively high for students
Students focus solely on their field of study	Students focus on their major and peripheral subjects related to their major
Undergraduate in university lasts 3 years	Undergraduate lasts 4 years
Learning responsibility primarily lies on the students	Faculty and students share responsibility for learning
Homework is rarely assigned, and the final exam is worth 80%+ of the final grade	Homework makes up a large portion of the grade, and final exams are worth approximately 30%
Grading system is out of 100, but grades above 75% are rare	Grading system is out of 100, and 90%+ grades are common
Social life is just as important if not more important than academics	Academics dominate, and social life is not nearly as important.
A masters is often required in order to become a professional	A bachelors degree will often allow a student to obtain a well-paying occupation